"DANCE OF THE SKELETONS."

Wray Taylor, whose service in the presentation of better and better music to the public of Honolulu is of marked value, is unusually ambitious in securing his latest selection for the Amateur Orchestra led by himself, the piece "Dance Macabre," is by Saint Saens, the greatest living musician.
As the name would imply, "The Dance of the Skeletons" is a weird and picturesque tone picture. It is of remarkable technique, expression and im-passionedness. It is strong, eloquent, artistic music. It is in no wise in the class of the stiff, stilted or mean-less compositions for which many persons affect a liking and urge cultivation. Mr. Taylor is greatly pleased with this latest important addition to his musical library. He says the Orchestra will soon undertake practice of the composition. Mr. Taylor gives this brief description of the "motif" of "The Dance of the Skeletons": "The clock strikes the hour of midnight; the skeletons are heard assembling for their ghastly revelry, which, continuing with unabated vigor till dawn, is abruptly terminated by the crowing of the cock."

MR. HERMAN BELLSTEDT.

Ed Towse and Daniel Logan heard "The Dance of the Skeletons" by Bellstedt's concert band at the Omaha Exposition last summer. Mr. Bellstedt is popularizing this and kindred music on the Mainland. This band leader and company is second only to John Philip Sousa as a director of reed, brass and string organizations and is one of the world's finest, having been soloist with Gilmore, Thomas, Siedl and European baton wielders. Mr. Bell-stedt is the first leader in America to give at popular concerts the productions of Saint-Saens, Greig and others of like caliber.

Mikahala in Yesterday.

The Mikahala arrived from Maui and Hawaii ports early yesterday afternoon. She brought 5046 bags of L. P. sugar to C. Brewer & Co., 320 bags coffee, 77 bags awa, 54 bundles hides, 18 hogs, 22 head cattle. The purser reports as follows: 7,500 bags sugar at Punahou and 7,000 at Honolulu. Both mills have been grinding steadily.
During the last few days but little rain has fallen in the Kau district and there has been rough weather all along the coast. The Naeau and Iwalei were lying in Waipio gulch on account of the rough weather.
